More Rainfall Needed To End Ohio Drought

No Precipitation Of Any Quantity Being Forecast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rain, rain and more rain is what Ohio needs most to end a statewide drought.

But except for a few scattered showers Thursday night, there is no forecast for precipitation in the immediate future.

At least that's the word from the U.S. Weather Bureau at Port Columbus.

Howard Kenny, weather chief in Columbus, says the entire state has been extremely short of rain since October.

"During October, total rainfall was about 25 per cent below normal," Kenny said. "And there has been no measurable rainfall reported in Ohio during the first 11 days of November."

Most state officials watching the situation say the drought, for the present, is not as bad as it was a year ago.

But State Hydrologist Paul Kaser points out "there is cause for concern."

Ohio is in better shape than a year ago, Kaser said, but water supplies are down somewhat in some sections. Last year's drought forced many municipalities to take measures to improve their water supplies.

Kaser pointed out, however, that many farmers are having problems in areas that have marginal water supplies.

R. B. Redett, assistant state forestry division chief, reports that the fire situation in Ohio's dry woodlands "is under control, although conditions are hazardous."

Redett said the division has ordered cancellation of all burning permits in fire districts, most of which are located in southeastern Ohio.

Meanwhile, natural resources officials say they have no plans to call off the opening of the hunting season Monday.

Fred E. Morr, natural resources director, said conditions this year are no worse than they were in 1963 when hunting season was closed.

Fires, Smoking Banned In All State Areas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Natural Resources Director Fred Morr issued a ban today against smoking and building of fires in all state parks, wildlife hunting areas and forests during the drought.

The Division of Forestry cancelled all burning permits Thursday in the fire protection districts in eastern, southeastern and southern Ohio and the Oak Openings area west of Toledo. No new permits will be issued until the fire danger is past.

Mother Is Held In Death of Boy

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police are holding a 23-year-old mother of six on a general charge of murder pending an inquest into the death of her 3-year-old son.

She is Mary Shreve of nearby Chalfant, whose child, Paul, died Wednesday night in a hospital of malnutrition and contusions. He weighed 12 pounds.

The boy's father, Herschel, 27, also was held Thursday as an accessory.

Before the child died, both parents had been charged with neglect, and additional charges of aggravated assault and battery had been filed against Mrs. Shreve.

Blind Woman Protests Discrimination by Sighted

NEW YORK (AP) — Not the blind, but the people who can see need help in coping with blindness, says a vivacious, blind woman who's gone to court to make her point: Where she goes, so goes her guide dog, Duchess.

"I've been thrown out of some of the best hotels, restaurants and museums in the world," Thelma Keitlen said today.

"I've been relegated to freight elevators."

"I've been passed countless times by employment agencies."

"I've even been accused of pretending I'm blind so that I can get Duchess into the passenger compartment of airliners with me."

"And I've been playing ball, explaining my rights, writing letters later, but now I find this most unsatisfactory."

Thursday Mrs. Keitlen, 42, executive vice president of Bonnie Prudden, physical fitness counselors, filed a complaint in criminal court.

Her argument: State law forbids "discrimination against sightless persons accompanied by a dog guide" that would exclude them from inns, common carriers, theaters, restaurants and hotels.

She alleges that on Oct. 16 she was refused service at a restaurant when she entered with her dog. The owners said it was a misunderstanding with his hostess. Health laws ban dogs from eating places, except guide dogs. The case was postponed.

"I'm sorry to have to make an example," Mrs. Keitlen said. "But maybe if the word gets around, then people will learn what my rights are."

"Nearly every time I go to a new place that doesn't know me, I go through the same

LBJ's Lead: 15.6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a record lead of 15.6 million votes over Sen. Barry Goldwater as unofficial returns from the Nov. 3 presidential election continue to trickle in.

All but 870 of the more than 175,000 voting units having reported, the unofficial vote is: Johnson 42,374,405, Goldwater 26,731,717.

The President has 61.1 per cent of the presidential vote of 69,306,122, including some 200,000 votes cast for Democratic electors in Alabama who were not pledged to Johnson.

With 270 needed to win, Johnson rolled up 485 electoral votes by carrying 44 states and the District of Columbia. Goldwater got 52 with six states.

When the still uncounted absentee ballots and third-party votes are added about a month from now, the official vote is expected to be close to 70 million compared with 68.8 million in 1960.

But the percentage of those of voting age who cast presidential ballots apparently will be less than the 63.1 of four years ago.

A preliminary study showed that 60.8 per cent of Americans of voting age voted this year. The figure is based on the Census Bureau's estimate that 114 million Americans were of voting age on election day.

But estimates of state officials and other observers were that only 88.9 million of the 114 million were registered or otherwise qualified to vote.

There was a strong upsurge of votes in the South. Three reasons for this were absence of poll tax requirements in five Southern states for the first time, a determined Negro registration drive and interest stirred by Goldwater. Five of the six states he carried are in the South.

Despite the upsurge, though, the South as a whole still trailed the nation. Ten of the 12 lowest participants, with 50 per cent or less casting presidential ballots were in the South.

Leading the nation by percentage was Utah, where 76.9 per cent of the voting age citizens cast presidential ballots. Next were Minnesota with 76.4 per cent and Idaho with 75.3 per cent.

U.S. Holds 4-1 ICBM Edge Over Soviet

But Researchers See Catch-Up After 1965

LONDON (AP) — The United States still has more than a 4-to-1 edge over the Soviet Union in intercontinental ballistic missiles by early 1965, but the Soviets may begin catching up after that, a leading British research institute estimated today.

The annual review of the Institute of Strategic Studies also said the Soviet Union is maintaining its numerical superiority in submarine strength and "there are indications that the Soviet naval air force and missile-firing submarines are coming to play a more central role in her strategy."

America's Strategic Air Command has clear superiority in the number of intercontinental bombers, the review reported, but the Soviet Union maintains a strong force of medium bombers capable of strikes at Japan or Western Europe.

The review said Communist China's army has little strategic mobility, because of primitive logistics, and its air force has only obsolescent aircraft.

But it said the Chinese nuclear test has shown "that the Chinese nuclear technology is apparently considerably more advanced than it was generally given credit for."

The Institute of Strategic Studies researches problems on defense, world security and disarmament.

It is a private organization which has close ties with the British Defense Ministry and gets its information from a network of more than 30 correspondents around the world, many of them British military attaches. Lord Attlee, the former prime minister, is its president.

The review said the Soviet Union fields 200 intercontinental ballistic missiles — double the number a year ago — and this may increase substantially in 1965.

But by early 1965, the United States will have 925 ICBMs. (Continued on Page Two)

Jap Leftists Protest U.S. Nuclear Sub

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Some 2,000 determined Japanese leftist students today kept alive the demonstration protesting the U.S. nuclear submarine Seadrakon's visit to Japan, but they didn't interfere with the submarine's holidaying sailors.

About 100 Zengakuren students, whose federation spearheaded the bloody 1960 demonstrations against the U.S.-Japan security treaty, sat down in front of the U.S. Navy base where the Seadrakon is tied up. A column of Socialists and labor unionists marched around a circular intersection 100 yards from the base's main gate.

Japanese police kept up a tight guard and confined the demonstrators to the main road in front of the base.

Intermittent rain and occasional hail fell throughout the day. The demonstrators took three hours off for lunch.

Taxis and other vehicles carried blue-uniformed American sailors, including members of the Seadrakon's 108-man crew, in and out of the base. There were occasional shouts of "Yank go home" in English.

Rustlers Add Insult to Injury

TUKWILA, Wash. (AP) — Cattle rustlers added insult to injury when they stole Vincent Scarcella's steers. They made him load the critters.

Police Chief Ed Boze said Scarcella reported it this way: He was awakened by voices in a pasture early Thursday, investigated and was ambushed by three men with a shotgun.

The rustlers forced him to load seven steers into his own truck and drive to a lonely section of highway.

There the steers were transferred to the rustlers' truck. They whipped up the horsepower and drove off leaving Scarcella standing tall in the dust.

Ford Books Huge Layoff

Labor Dispute Is Given Blame

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The strike-troubled Ford Motor Co. starts a huge layoff of workers across the country tonight in what Ford President Arjay Miller says may become a full shutdown by next week.

Week-old strikes by the United Auto Workers at eight factories, including key parts and stamping plants that feed the Ford car production setup, are held to blame.

If Ford closes all its 90 plants, a total of 160,000 hourly workers will be laid off.

Ford, with 25,500 men on strike at the eight plants, announced a layoff tonight of 33,500 more at eight assembly operations and 16 manufacturing locations in several states, including key Michigan installations. This will be an immediate total idle of 59,000 men.

The company made its announcement late Thursday from Dearborn headquarters almost simultaneously with a union charge that Ford's "obstinate attitude" had prevented strike settlements.

Ken Bannon, director of the UAW Ford Department, issued a statement saying Ford "stubbornly refuses" to agree to terms at some plants which he said management already had accepted at other plants.

Ford made no immediate comment on the charge.

The separate, local strikes bear on individual at-plant issues. Local agreements supplement the national Ford-UAW contract. Ford, like rival General Motors and Chrysler, came to national agreements with the union weeks ago, although GM was troubled into last week by local disputes, all now settled.

Ford and the UAW gave up Wednesday in efforts to settle four of the strikes in top-level negotiations here.

Ohio Aviation Chalks Death-Free Month

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another death-free month has been recorded for civilian aviation in Ohio, the Highway Patrol reported today.

But there were 13 civilian aircraft accidents during the past month, patrol investigators said, bringing the total for the year so far to 123, compared with 136 in all of 1963.

U.S., Mexico Merge Efforts

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, pledging to "take up arms" with Mexico in fighting disease, poverty, hunger and ignorance, pressed ahead today with final talks with Mexico's President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

Diaz Ordaz, himself a landslide election victor who will be inaugurated Dec. 1 as the Mexican chief executive, was winding up a 27-hour stay at the Johnson Ranch.

Diaz Ordaz was to return with his wife to Mexico City after another formal session with Johnson and a private luncheon. The order of the day was not confined wholly to business, however. There was the inevitable tour of the American President's 400 acres, with Johnson as the enthusiastic guide.

In welcoming Diaz Ordaz Thursday afternoon, Johnson said: "We are meeting here to talk together and to work together, and to take up arms together against the ancient enemies of mankind — disease and poverty and hunger and ignorance."

Diaz Ordaz responded by saying: "I am here to seal a friendship with President Johnson from me and the Mexican people, and to him and through him to the American people."

He said he was sure the two leaders "will be able to work

Cons, Judges Join in Joking

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — There's the story about the governor touring a state penal institution when he was met in a narrow hallway by a life-term convict.

"Pardon me," the convict said as he brushed by.

A similar incident occurred here Thursday as 34 federal judges were touring the U.S. penitentiary and a prisoner called from his cell: "I hope you can cut some sentences."

The judges knew he was joking, and joined in the laughter.

At another point in the tour, U.S. Dist. Judge Francis L. Van Dusen of Philadelphia was approached in the machine shop by a young man in his late 20s who asked if more law books could be acquired for the prison library.

"They don't have as many here as at Leavenworth or Atlanta," the prisoner complained.

TV Show Inspires Kid Burglary Ring

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP) — Police said 12 high school students, accused of organizing a highly stylized burglary gang, say they got the idea from the new television series, "The Rogues."

The boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17, were rounded up Thursday. Sheriff's deputies said the boys admitted 29 burglaries in the surrounding area, taking in a haul of about $3,500 in money, jewelry, cameras and television sets.

Coeds Shun Matchmaker

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coeds at the University of Cincinnati have balked at the idea of having a machine select their partners for a weekend dance.

"I think I'm a better judge of character than any old machine," was a typical comment given by Frances Dick, Cincinnati freshman. "And besides who is going to put the right answers on that questionnaire?"

"I have a date Saturday night — and I picked him out myself!" she exclaimed.

Plans were to have students fill out a questionnaire, giving all the pertinent detail about themselves and their ideal partner.

The information was to have together with reciprocal respect and joint cooperation to maintain the principles that have inspired our two peoples."

The principal reason for the ranch get-together between Johnson and Diaz Ordaz was simply to become acquainted.

Johnson acknowledged problems — such as over Cuba — do exist between the United States and Mexico.

"We are here to discuss them," he said. "And in the days ahead we will resolve them in peace, with reason, with justice to each other."

Tree House Is Doomed By Neighbors

LONDON (AP) — The Wanstead and Woodford Town Council has ordered John Ludlow to dismantle a tree house built for his two children.

"It's ridiculous," said Ludlow 41. "I've been told I didn't get permission from the Town Council. Mind you, the tree house is on my own property, in my own garden."

A spokesman for the council said Ludlow didn't get permission from the Planning Committee, as required by law, and neighbors had complained about the tree house.

Ludlow built the house for his son Richard, 10, and daughter, Brenda, 8.

"It's an eyesore and I complained to the council," said Joan Roberts, a neighbor.

"Anyway, it's particularly annoying when we are in our garden to have the Ludlow children running around the platform of their tree house making all sorts of noises and firing off toy guns."

Ludlow said he might appeal the order.

Long-Winded Phone Users Win

WATERVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The talkers became shouters and a telephone company's plan to limit party-line conversations to eight minutes will be dropped.

The Chenango-Unadilla Telephone Corp. installed a cut-off device on party lines in this hamlet last month when a dial system went into use.

When long-winded talkers neared the eight-minute mark a buzzer would sound and the connection was cut.

The company's northern district manager, Robert C. Lindquist, said the enforced brevity will be ended Monday because those disliking it were more numerous and more vocal.

Pumpkin Kills Baby

NEW YORK (AP) — A pumpkin hurled down in anger from a fourth-floor window by Ralph Piorro, 25, at his wife, Lorraine, missed her but struck their 3-month-old son, Ralph Jr., injuring him fatally Thursday.

Buddhists Rap Civilian Rule

Commies Capitalize On Deluged Area

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist students stormed past riot police today in a demonstration demanding an end to the new civilian government, already sorely beset by a flood disaster and Red guerrillas.

Troops kept the 1,500 demonstrators from marching as planned on Diem Hong palace, where the new government and the High National Council were in session.

Truckloads of troops poured into the city in a show of strength by Premier Tran Van Huong's 10-day-old government. The students then contented themselves with pushing past 40 police and entering the central market. Then leaders told the students to disperse.

Another band of students, armed with sticks and machetes, tried to storm the Ministry of Public Works but were repelled.

The students oppose the appointment of some technicians who served under President Ngo Dinh Diem, ousted and slain last November. They also are angered because the premier told them to stay out of politics.

Aside from political unrest in the capital, the new government is faced with a monumental task of rebuilding 10 flood-ravaged provinces north of Saigon, where more than 5,000 persons have drowned.

Communist guerrillas were reported capitalizing on the floods and moving openly from mountain hideouts into the crippled valley villages.

Refugees from the flood told Vietnamese authorities they had been accosted by Viet Cong men and forced to tear up their identity papers. Widespread elimination of the papers would help the Communists to move with comparative freedom through the disrupted region.

The Saigon government can do little about Viet Cong activity in the flooded regions. Communications are disrupted and highways and railroad beds

Pope's Crown Goes to Poor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI donated his gold and silver three-tiered beehive crown today to the poor of the world.

Vatican officials said his action symbolized the concern of the Roman Catholic Church for those "who suffer misery and hunger."

The Pope placed the tiara on an altar in St. Peter's Basilica during a special Mass honoring ancient St. John Chrysostom, revered alike by Roman Catholics of the West and Orthodox Catholics of the East.

The crown is the one used for Pope Paul's coronation on June 30, 1963. Studded with emeralds, diamonds and rubies, it was made for him by artisans in Milan, where he was archbishop before his election as pope.

The 10-pound crown's value is not known but is believed in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Santa Sure

To Arrive

Here Nov. 27

Santa Claus will arrive in Circleville on Nov. 27 the day after Thanksgiving, according to a telegram received by John Fissell from the North Pole.

Fissell, who heads up the Jaycee Committee responsible for Santa's visits here, announced that the parade greeting St. Nick will be "bigger and better than ever."

Several marching bands, floats, fire engines, drum corps and Pumpkin Show beauty queens will precede Santa in the festive parade.

Several members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have been soliciting merchants for contributions that "pay the tab" for the parade and local Santa Claus headquarters.

FISSELL said the estimated total budget is $750. More donations are needed to meet costs, he added.

Santa's House will be open at regular hours, Monday through Saturday. Each child who visits him will receive a candy cane, Fissell said.

The Jaycees are in the process of building Santa's House. The mobile headquarters will be in different locations throughout the downtown area after Nov. 27.

The parade route and Santa's visiting hours will be announced later.

compared with 745 a year earlier.

"However," the report said, "this may be the last year in which the Western superiority in long-range striking power is so marked as the American ICBM program becomes substantially completed next year, and if the Soviet missile buildup is continued under (Premier Alexei N.) Kosygin and (First Secretary Leonid I.) Brezhnev."

The United States has increased its lead over the Soviet Union in fleet ballistic missiles under 2-to-1 to 4-to-1 during the past year.

The Soviet Union is building about 10 nuclear-powered submarines a year.

A reduction in Soviet conventional military power seems unlikely.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ten million dollars from the state liquor profits fund will be transferred to help meet a $64.8 million school foundation payment, Finance Director Richard Krabach announced today.

The foundation payment is due at the end of the month.

The finance director said the transfer of $10 million will leave $8 million more he can take from the liquor profits this year under an agreement with distillers for paying back bills made last year. Krabach transferred $12 million earlier this year to help the state's General Fund.

LONDON (AP)—Britain is threatened by a surfeit of milk. The fierce little rodents have colonized alongside rivers in the west country. They attack chicken farms when they run out of birds and fish.

Mik are not native to Britain. Escapees from mink farms started the trouble. The ministry of agriculture urged farmers to kill off the mink and said they could have a major problem on their hands.

NEW YORK (AP)—A night clerk told police how he was robbed at his hotel early today and taken on a ride uptown by the gunman who then stopped the car and said: "Here's two dollars, take a cab back."

Mortimer Patant, 39, told police the gunman walked into the empty lobby of the Hotel Madison at midnight and said, "Give me your money or your life."

Patant said he gave the gunman $70 from the till and $2.50 of his own. Then he was ordered into the car and told to "make no false moves" during the 80-block ride, Patant told police.

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government official who campaigned for Sen. Barry Goldwater in Hawaii has resigned.

Yoshiro Kikuchi, 74, gave up the post of vice parliamentary minister of science and technology on Nov. 2, the government announced today. Yazo Kotsuke, 69, succeeded him.

The government ordered Kikuchi home from Honolulu on Oct. 31 after word of his political activities reached Tokyo. Officials felt his campaigning was an interference in U.S. internal affairs.

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin officials fear that East Germany won't reopen the Berlin wall at Christmas to let West Berliners visit relatives in the Communist sector of the divided city.

Red border guards closed the wall on schedule at midnight after a 14-day visiting period expired. It was the first of four periods within a year authorized by an agreement between the East German Communist regime and the West Berlin government. Nearly 600,000 West Berliners visited the East during the past two weeks.

The next visiting period is scheduled to run from Dec. 19 through Jan. 3. Thursday the Communists made a veiled threat to call off the Christmas visits unless West Berlin banks and exchange offices quit selling East German marks below the official rate.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Congolese rebel leaders in Stanleyville have assured Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya that foreign civilians there including 60 Americans, are in no danger.

Kenyatta said he received the assurance in reply to an appeal he made to the Stanleyville rebels that they not mistreat the nearly 900 foreigners in rebel territory.

Kenyatta is chairman of the Organization of African Unity's Congo Reconciliation Commission.

ROME (AP)—Owners of Rome's bars, restaurants and shops called off a citywide business shutdown next week to protest high operating costs after the government extended rent control for a year.

The strike had been planned for next Wednesday. The owners still want reductions in taxes and licensing costs, but they were so pleased by the rent concession that they decided not to strike.

A government spokesman said the other demands were being considered.

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—A blue-eyed blonde teen-ager, believed to have psychic powers, has been called into the search for a missing boy.

She is high school sophomore Linda Anderson, 15, of nearby Billerica. Her father, Arthur, a hypnotist in his spare time, says she has psychic powers.

Three times Anderson put Linda into a trance Thursday night during the search for little Kenneth Mason, 5. On one occasion, while seated in the rear seat of a police cruiser, she said — from a hypnotic trance: "The boy is not in the river. He is in a house."

Police Capt. Richard Cullen said Linda's leads "are certainly worth investigating. We think she's marvelous."

He said he also was convinced the boy was not in the Concord River, which runs near his home.

A house-to-house search was being made today as investigators feared possible foul play in the boy's disappearance. He has been missing since Tuesday.

Soil Survey Information Available at SCS Office

Pickaway District Soil Conservation Service technician Don Archer announced today that soil maps and survey information are available to industrial — commercial enterprises and to residential planners as well as farmers in the county.

Archer noted that a rapid change in land use patterns in the state and county is currently taking place.

Lands formerly used for farming are being remodeled into residential developments, golf courses, shopping centers and many kinds of commercial and industrial operations in Pickaway County as well as other portions of the state.

State Conservationist Raymond S. Brown of the SCS has pointed out there are numerous examples of failures of such enterprises because the soils are poorly suited.

"We hear of septic tanks that do not function properly, wells polluted by septic tank effluent, wet basements, floods menacing new housing developments or industries, cracks in foundations and walls, slipping of houses on slopes and many other unhappy problems of homeowners and developers," Brown said.

In several areas in Ohio, scientific information is available to tell before building if these problems are likely to result. Archer stated that this information is provided by the soil surveys prepared by the SCS in Ohio.

Little Guy Has Lobbyist In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The little guy who stands in ignorant awe of the massive process of criminal law now has a lobbyist in Washington.

For the present, he is located in a drab, cramped cubicle on the fourth floor of the department whose traditional role has been to prosecute — the Department of Justice.

For the present, the little guy's chief lobbyist — Prof. James Vorenberg — spends two days a week on his Washington job, the rest of his schedule taken up with teaching criminal law at Harvard.

But it's a start. That was what former Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had in mind, just before he left office two months ago, when he established an Office of Criminal Justice within the Justice Department.

The office is still an embryo. Under the direction of Vorenberg, it is still setting down the momentous questions it must ask and answer in its crusade to assure every American his full measure of equal justice under the law.

Was the jury fairly and legally chosen? Was the defendant convicted on Page 1 before he went to trial? Was it right to tap his telephone? Was he held by police too long without a lawyer — and too long before arraignment? Was he properly treated while authorities were determining his mental competency?

A&P Chief Denies Food Chain Is Up for Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., John D. Ehrigott, says the A&P is not for sale and never has been.

He made the remark Thursday in commenting on reports that the supermarket chain was receptive to purchase by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

He pointed out that these diagnoses of soils, charted in detail on reference maps and long used as guides for farmers in growing their crops, are equally useful in showing limitations in the use of a given piece of land for buildings, underground sanitary or other utility systems, for streets or highways, or for other essential facilities.

In many counties in Ohio, soil survey information is available for a significant portion of the area, and about 15 counties are entirely mapped. Plans by SCS to make this information readily available to planners and others are being made in several counties.

Archer noted that the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Lands and Soil, also makes soil surveys in Ohio, in cooperation with SCS, and that the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station also contributes to this work.

Increasing awareness, particularly on the part of concerned county officials, of the value of soil surveys in orderly land use planning, is resulting in a sharp increase in requests for these surveys, Archer stated. He said that the SCS is making every effort possible to provide assistance to these requests.

The Department of Natural Resources also has flood plain maps on given areas in Ohio.

Catholic Chiefs To Vote on Revised Views

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council is expected to vote approval next week of revised declarations on the Jews and religious freedom, but the declarations probably will not be promulgated as council decrees before the next session, in 1965 or 1966.

Both documents were heatedly debated in the current council session, which ends Nov. 21. They are expected to have a major effect on the Roman Catholic Church's relations with other Christians and non-Christians.

A council spokesman said Thursday the documents had been revised and that the declaration on the Jews had been strengthened to absolve Jews of any implication of decide in Christ's Crucifixion.

"I think it is much stronger than even the first draft two years ago," said a member of the Vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, which drafted both declarations.

As introduced, the declaration on Jews said all mankind, not Jews alone, shared blame for the Crucifixion. This phrase was omitted in a revision earlier this year which said: "All should be careful not to attribute to the Jew of our time what was committed during the Passion of Christ."

Several cardinals, including three from the United States, assailed the omission in debate last September and urged that the original wording be restored. Middle East patriarchs opposed any declaration on the Jews because they feared a stand on the controversial issue would touch off anti-Catholic sentiment in Arab lands.

The religious freedom declaration holds that every man has the right to believe as his conscience dictates. Conservative prelates, mainly from Italy and Spain, opposed it as a danger to the Church.

While approval of the declarations is expected in the vote next week, a number of the prelates probably will approve them with reservations. These must be accompanied by written statements outlining suggested changes. Consideration of these by the Christian Unity Secretariat and possible further revision of the declarations will delay their promulgation as council decrees beyond the closing of the council session.

Bonnie Prince Charlie Aware of His Destiny

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles—16 Saturday—is developing into an independent, conscientious and sensitive young man highly aware that one day he will be a king.

The heir to the British throne has grown up in the relentless glare of publicity. Yet he is extremely self-conscious about criticism, the kind he thinks is an invasion of his privacy.

Prince Charles' royal features were ruffled recently when some newspapers accused him of adopting a Beatle haircut. He is reported to have said, with the wounded feelings of an introspective schoolboy: "Beatle hair cut nothing. I was wearing my hair the way I do before the Beatles were heard of."

He was correct. His dark chestnut hair is abundant and not easily controlled.

Charles is much in favor of the Beatles, however. More than a year ago the corridors of Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle and Balmoral Castle were echoing with the quartet's blasts.

The banging and wailing came from the prince's room, from records he had bought at school, paid for from his hardly lavish pocket money.

When he is away from his school, tough Gordonstoun up in Scotland, the prince takes his records with him. He also owns a guitar.

The longish royal hair is said to have caused a bit of princely anger down in Athens in September when members of Britain's royal family arrived for the wedding of King Constantine to Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark.

A strong wind was whipping across the airport and it happened to be at the hatless prince's back. Pictures showed him squinting into the sun, his hair in wild disarray.

Court sources said he was not amused.

Charles' head got him into trouble once before. When he was at Cheam School and was answering questions at a geography lesson, he is said to have told schoolmates: "But I do know Malta. I've been there several times. In our ship."

"Big head," muttered a chum.

The next thing Prince Charles knew he was getting the business, the traditional business for showing off.

He was thrown to the ground after class and several boys in rapid succession sat on his head.

At Cheam this ancient process is called "shrinking the nut," the nut meaning the head.

Charles' best subject is geography, in which he seems genuinely interested. He is also a good sailor. His worst subject is French.

At the queen's and Prince Philip's orders the young prince is called Charles by his schoolmates and friends. Palace servants also address him as Charles. His parents have laid much emphasis on his being treated as other boys. He is given the same spending money as the majority of his schoolmates.

If he has a girl friend, this is a well-kept secret.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

Too frequently, the role of Public Works in the community is looked upon as a necessary evil — a creator of taxes and torn up streets.

The less the better is not uncommon attitude as far as public works activity is concerned. The construction of a new shopping center is greeted with enthusiastic applause as a welcome investment in the community's future.

An addition to the waterworks is regarded suspiciously as a sign of excessive spending of public funds. But is a public works activity any less of a community asset than a factory warehouse or a store? All provide a needed or desired product or service to the citizenry. They create and provide jobs. They contribute to the convenience of community life. All these improvements make a better standard of living.

Public Works is everyone's business, besides being a business owned by the public. Its reason for being derives from needs created by community life. Its products, health, safety and conveniences are vital to community life.

The effectiveness of public works planning and programming is indeed, a direct measure of the progress of civilization. One need only look to underdeveloped countries of the world to see the effect of a lack of public works facilities.

For upgrading living standards for all nations, it is the waterworks and water supply systems, sanitation facilities, the transportation, communication networks and power facilities that must be developed first.

The need for public works progress is becoming more important in the urban areas as cities and communities expand, because of magnitude and technical complexity.

Population in our country is increasing more rapidly now than at any time in our history. At the same time, agricultural progress is such that less farmers and producers are needed to supply the demand. And this increases the population in our cities by those leaving the profession.

Crystal ball gazing is at best a hazardous venture. However, in planning any public works needs it is a necessary hazard. Unlike buying a loaf of bread or a quart of milk, which are only as far away as the supermarket, public works improvements must be planned well into the future.

Water supply systems take years to develop. Streams and lakes cannot be allowed to become polluted before provision is made to treat the never ending flow of industrial and domestic wastes which are dumped into them.

The price of safety is paid for in lives and injuries, simply because of unbuilt highways, overcrowded streets and lack of measures regulating traffic.

Decaying rundown slum areas that can be measured in lost tax returns, increased police costs and increased welfare costs are expensive burdens to any community.

We speak of radioactive fallout and effects of the indiscriminate use of pesticides. Are we concerned? Yes, we are — yet we blink at the potential danger to community life should the population explosion endanger our ability to meet the facilities of urban life.

To give some idea of the magnitude of the problem, let us take our own community of some 12,000 people. We require an assured supply of 1,000,000 gallons of water, pure and uncontaminated, each day of the year. This will produce about an equal amount of waste which should be cleaned before it is discharged into any nearby waters.

We produce 36,000 pounds of garbage and rubbish each day which must be collected and disposed of in some manner to preclude the breeding of rodents and vermin that carry disease.

On top of this, provision must be made for 3,000 cars and 840 trucks and buses to move citizens to work, to school, to stores, to doctors and dentists, scores of meetings and other destinations abounding in this community.

All these facilities must be kept clean and repaired. Snow and ice must be cleared in the winter. Sure, you say, we have all this — what is the problem? The problem is, during the next 30 or 40 years, the generation of your children and their children.

Leave them what was adequate for you — is this enough or good facilities for them?

Statistics tell us that in 30 or 40 years there will be 170,000 more people in these United States. This points out that there is one thing we are keeping abreast of.

Seriously speaking, this means the population increase will be almost as great as our present day population of the nation.

Where will these people go? They will go to the urban areas. There isn't any other place to absorb growth like this.

According to this, we must plan on seven communities the size of ours each week for the next 40 years.

Planning must begin now and it must be followed through until completion. We are not talking about an advanced generation like Flash Gordon or Brick Bradford. We are talking about the days of our children and grandchildren.

Did you know that we had 170 years to build what we have now for 150,000,000 people? Isn't it wonderful? We can't stop planning facilities. We have 40 years for the next 200,000,000 people. That isn't much time.

Can we keep pace with progress, are we willing to do what must be done, will we do it?

Yes, we have modern means and easier methods and better materials and this age of technology and scientific capabilities seems to know no boundaries. The problem of providing community facilities are changing rapidly. In the early years of our nation was blessed with abundant resources — water, fuel, land. But with the present day growth, this situation ceases to prevail.

There are communities where additional water is not available or the cost is too high to provide it. There are areas so populated and industrialized that the air is continuously laden with soot and noxious fumes.

There are cities where there is no open land into which to expand. Available sites for sanitary land filling of refuse are being used up, although garbage and rubbish are being produced at an undiminishing rate. Clearly, new solutions for providing new facilities for our growing population are needed.

Let's not remain smug. Many of the things we've talked about we see every day. And some application does apply to our fine community.

The point to be remembered is that the challenge of a growing population and growing urbanization is in reality an opportunity.

Now we are faced with building a new urban environment. Will it be the kind of community we want our children to live in and be proud of? Will they be able to say, our fathers built well?

We are not infallible. We have made mistakes, in the past in ordering our environment. We have been wasteful in our resources. We cannot afford to repeat these errors.

It is appropriate at this time to consider the challenge and opportunity to participate in the creation of a better community. Some can contribute much by participation in civic affairs. An informed public is one guarantee.

Weep for Logic

Whatever moves the voters of this country, it is certainly not what used to be taught as Aristotelian logic. Or any other kind.

The most glaring contradiction of November 3 turned up in California, where two propositions affecting the property right of individuals had been placed on the ballot. The first proposition asked the voter to abolish the Rumford Act, which had put restrictions on the right of a property owner to sell his holding in accordance with his own desires. The voters returned a resounding "yes" to this proposition, the famous — or notorious — Proposition Fourteen.

The second proposition was on the question of permitting Pay-TV. On this, the voters came through with a resounding "no." Yet the Pay-TV proposition was just as much a referendum on the property right as Proposition Fourteen, for it affected the right of an individual to dispose of his voice, or his entertainment, or his educational idea, as he sees fit, subject to sticking to the wavelength assigned to him by the FCC authorities.

On logical grounds this California response to the separate propositions makes no sense whatsoever. It is like voting to confute the proposition in physics that things equal to each other, or the equally obvious axiom that two solids cannot occupy the same place at the same time. Max Rafferty, the critic of California schools, has complained about the quality of education in his state. It could be that he has something, and that our politics won't begin to make sense again until we have fixed things up at the grade school level.

The worst of it is that the California vote can't even be defended on emotional grounds. If emotional generosity is a fit reason to go against a Constitutional right, then the voters should have upheld the Rumford Act, which, however repugnant it may be as a matter of law, and however unenforceable it would have proved as a matter of practicality, is at least symbolic of a desire to extend good housing without regard to the color of a man's skin. Emotional generosity would not have been sufficient reason in my book to vote against Proposition Fourteen.

For I believe in sticking to the Constitution until it is changed by the agreed-upon processes of amendment. But still, if you are going to defend palpably illegal things for reasons of "humanity," the vote on the Rumford Act offered the people a good opportunity.

On Pay-TV, emotional generosity should have validated it completely. For this involves not only the property right but also the right of a man, under the First Amendment to the Constitution, to listen as he chooses. The vote against Pay-TV in California slashes hard at the valiant attempt of Sylvester (Pat) Weaver to make big sports events and new, or at least relatively new, movies available to patrons for a fee without the interruption of those obnoxious commercials that get sounding in your head like so many buzzing bees that cannot be brushed away. Weaver's Subscription Television had made a beginning, by piped circuit, of supplying stay-at-home pay customers with Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giant baseball games, and had signed up the rights to broadcast the Los Angeles Lakers and San Francisco Warriors basketball games. It also had a contract with Universal Pictures to show such popular films as "The Ugly American" and "To Kill a Mockingbird." But the capital needed by Pat Weaver to push his Pay-TV ideas was limited throughout the autumn months by the necessity of getting together a million-dollar political war chest to fight the motion picture theatre owners, who were putting out big sums to defeat Pay-TV at the polls.

By all accounts Mr. Weaver hadn't been getting enough box office support for his Subscription Television, Inc., anyway. But this was all the more reason why the voters should have been generous enough to let him work his theories out without turning the law against him. Where has our gallantry gone?

Presumably, the vote against the Rumford Act and the vote against Pay-TV will both be submitted to the courts for a final decision. Since the courts themselves have shown little respect in recent years for Aristotelian logic in reading the Constitution, it would be no surprise to see them reverse the voters' decision on Proposition Fourteen and uphold the ban on Pay-TV. The plain meaning of words no longer offers any defense in our Alice-in-Wonderland times.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: Is arthritis the same as rheumatism?

A: No. Rheumatoid arthritis is one type of arthritis, but it is not the same as rheumatism.

Rheumatoid arthritis, sometimes called "atrophic arthritis" or "chronic infectious arthritis," is a disease that affects the joints and related structures.

Rheumatism is a confused term which refers mostly to symptoms like pain and stiffness.

Q: What are some of the common types of arthritis?

A: Besides rheumatoid arthritis, there is arthritis caused by injury, allergy, infection and gout. There is also a form known as "osteoarthritis"; it affects the bones and the joints, especially in the elderly.

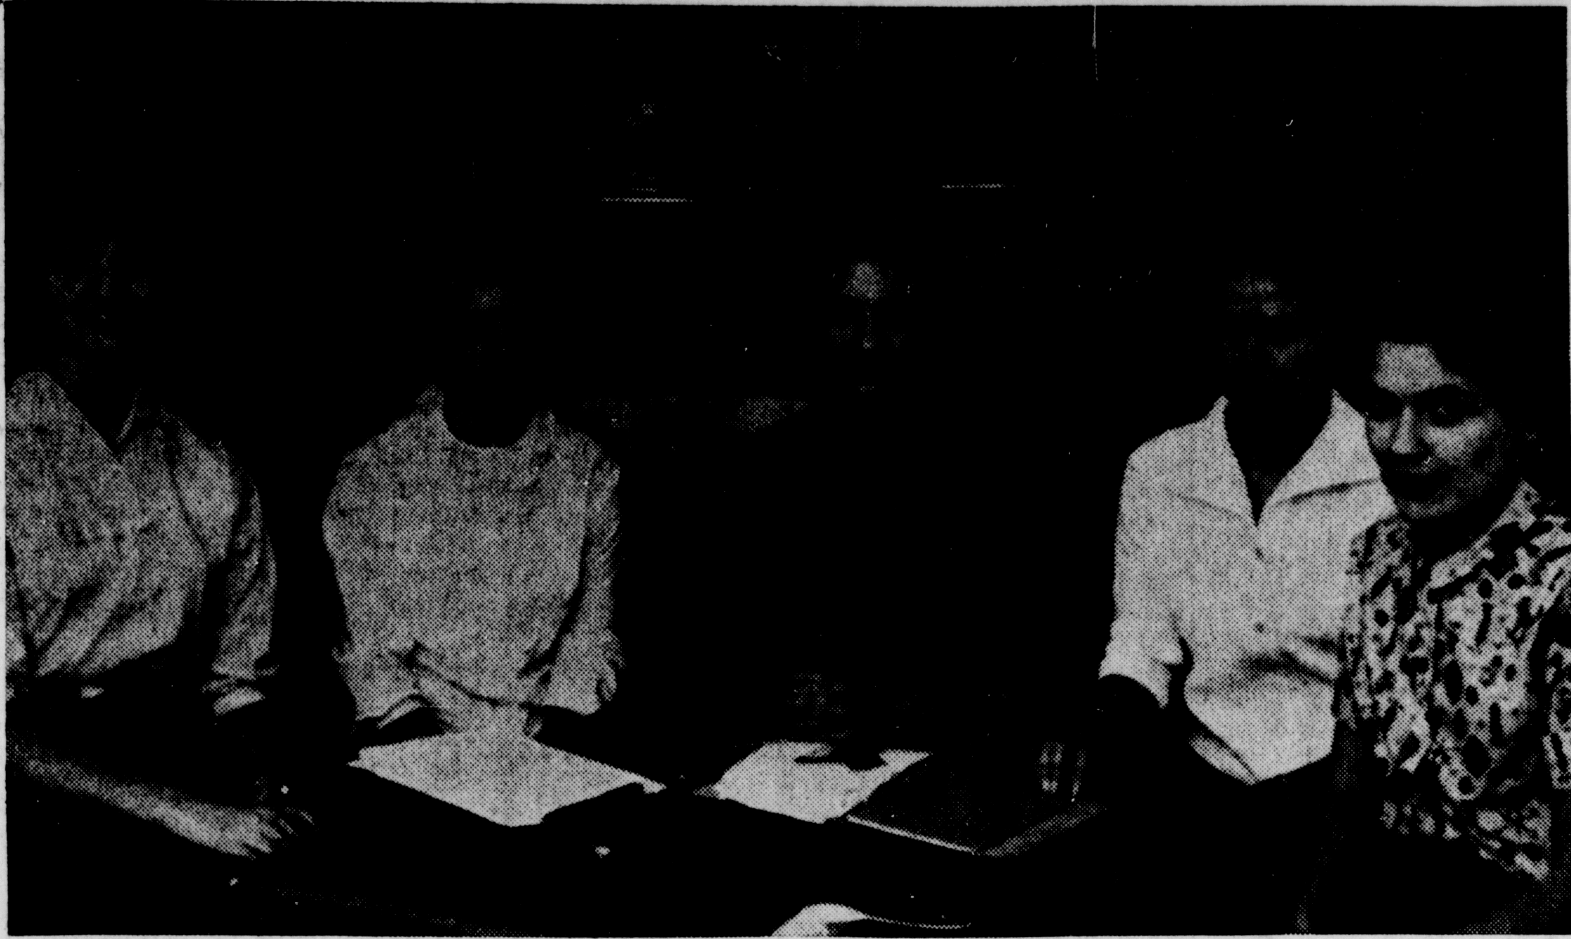

Q: Can rheumatoid arthritis occur in the young?

A: It can occur in infancy and early childhood, in the adolescent, in the adult and in the elderly.

In the United States, rheumatoid arthritis is prevalent chiefly in persons over 40. It seems to occur most frequently among women, except in the elderly, where the ratio tends to become equal.

Q: Does rheumatoid arthritis occur more frequently in any special type of climate?

A: The prevalence of arthritis is known to be higher in cold, damp climates.

Some Ideas For Sewing With Silk

By ELEANOR ROSS

Silk is more beautiful, more luscious, more desirable, and more in the fashion picture than ever. The silk tweed suit is very popular, so is the silk raincoat.

Then, of course, there are the delicious discotheque dance dresses, the silk restaurant and evening ensembles.

And in the yardage department of your favorite store, as well as in fabric stores, the shopper will find a whole rainbow of silk in various weaves and colors.

The ever-growing army of home sewing enthusiasts like working with silk because it is easy to handle, easy to cut, easy to sew — and it gives a wide choice of weaves suitable for items in the personal wardrobe as well as in the home. These range from covers for cushions to evening clothes.

Here are a few tips that tend to make sewing with silk easy.

First: use silk thread when sewing any silk item. When working with sheer silks, such as chiffon — so much in demand just now — stitch with tissue paper backing to give firmness and body. When sewing silk shantung, another very popular weave, remember to loosen tension on your sewing machine. These are minor suggestions, perhaps, but what a difference they make for the seamstress.

Silk has great elasticity, but this entails a tendency to give. To avoid any slippage, and assure yourself a firm construction, line your clothes as the fine couturiers do and guard against garments that fit too snugly.

When selecting silk for sewing, have in mind the type of garment for which it is to be used.

Shantung is fine for sportswear, daytime and resort things — a good choice when making clothes to be worn on a cruise or at a winter vacation resort.

Surah is wonderful for blouses and for beautiful prints for daytime wear.

Silk brocades are ideal for gala evening gowns and costumes.

Brocatelle is similar to brocade, but the woven design or motif is satin in texture. It is used mainly in interior decoration, such as draperies and covers for cushions.

Silk damask, that fine jacquard weave with a flat reversible design, is used in such diverse items as evening wear, upholstery and various decorative effects.

Matelasse, that silk cloth with a figured pattern that stands out in a quilted effect, is big just now for both dresses and coats.

Dear Abby: Check the Facts, Ma'am!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the office hay ride party prompted this comment because for the past ten years, that is what I have been arguing with my husband about. He works for a big company and almost every other weekend they have a party for someone who is being married, transferred, retired, or for any other reason they can think up. Husbands and wives are not invited. I've heard my husband and some of his co-workers talk about what goes on at these parties, and believe me, I don't like it. There is drinking and dancing, and the young unmarried girls fall all over the married men. My husband always has the money for these office parties, but just let me ask him for a few dollars for something the kids or I need, and he doesn't have it. He claims he has to go to these parties. I say, like heck he does. When the company stopped the annual Christmas party, and gave each employee a turkey instead, I was so happy. Why does the management permit these other parties to go on? It only causes hard feelings between the employees and their families.

Ohio Outdoor Recreation Plan Readied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio hopes to have a comprehensive statewide outdoor recreation plan ready for U. S. Department of the Interior consideration by Jan. 1, Natural Resources Department officials said Thursday.

Department Director Fred E. Morr told some 250 mayors, county commissioners, state legislators, park and planning board members that the state may get about a half million dollars in the first six months of 1965, under the new federal land and water conservation fund program.

This might increase to $3 million in the 1966 fiscal year and for a total of 25 years, Morr said.

It is a 50-50 state-federal matching program, Morr said, $5 million each year thereafter and tentative plans call for 75 to 80 per cent to be used for state outdoor recreation facilities and the rest for local public facilities.

HOW STUDY AND TEACHING OF THE SCRIPTURES
 KEEPS CHRISTIANS FROM FALSE DOCTRINES AND TRUE TO THE FAITH

Scripture—II Timothy 2:1-5, 9, 14-17.

By R. H. Ramsey

CONFINED in prison, Paul has much time for contemplation and letter writing. In one of his "think sessions," he looks far into the future of Christianity and sees the many perils which are to come. Realizing that the security of future Christians lies in a close adherence to the Word of God, he writes to Timothy of the duties and a few some responsibility which will fall upon him and the ministers of the future.

Ministers are to treat the great apostolic truths as a precious legacy which they will hold in trust for the future. Each, in turn, is to commit it to the keeping of trustworthy followers who know its value and are capable of preserving it intact and handing it on to others as trustworthy as themselves. Unless such care is taken to preserve the truth, the false, distorted doctrines already abounding can easily confuse the weak and ignorant on the essentials of the Christian faith.

Likening Christian life to military service, Paul charges Timothy to discipline himself as a soldier. Military service is either warfare or preparation for war, with no real opportunity for a soldier to lay down his arms. So, too, is a Christian's life, either conflict or preparation for conflict. He can never cease to watch and pray; for the victory is not won and temptation will continue so long as the Christian remains in this world.

To illustrate how Timothy will be the first to be rewarded if he exerts himself to the fullest, the apostle introduces another area of life—agriculture. Not only will Timothy be blessed in his own doing as he labors in God's vineyard, he will see the beginnings of God's glorious fruits in the lives of others.

Obviously Paul knew Timothy well and must have wondered whether his personality could withstand the stresses which were to come. To this end, Paul felt called upon to express his fullest witness to the power of the Gospel of Christ. He points out Christ's suffering, His triumphal resurrection and the fact that He still lives and reigns.

Those who suffer and die for Christ will certainly share His heavenly reign; those who deny Him will be a complete man of God.

Again, Paul charges Timothy to abide in the Word of God, as it has been taught him and as he has studied it. The Scriptures are his salvation through faith, they will lead him into the holy life. In them he will find all that is necessary for teaching and instruction, for reproof and correction. Through them he will be a complete man of God.

Scratch on Rolls-Royce Assures New Model

CREWE, England (AP) — Gordon Ignatewicz, a Canadian car fancier, found a scratch on his new Rolls-Royce. He packed it off from Toronto to the Rolls headquarters in London with a sharp letter of complaint.

The company dispatched another new Rolls — unscratched — across the Atlantic by mail. "We couldn't do this for everybody," said Dennis Williams, a company spokesman, "but Gordon is only 8 — and the car was a 4-inch model."

OLD ENOUGH!

Not old enough for a novel, a dictionary, an encyclopedia.

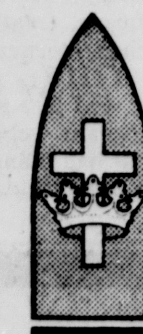

But old enough for the Bible!

For in these very years before she fully understands its truth, a child learns to respect God's Word. Reverence is born. A sense of the importance of religion develops.

The passages must be short... and sensibly chosen. Childish but searching questions must be answered. Mother and Dad will soon discover that explaining Truth to their child deepens their own comprehension.

Take advantage of a parent's most sacred privilege. Introduce your child to God. Make the Bible part of the family. Participate in and cooperate with the Church's program of religious education.

A child grows spiritually whose parents grow spiritually!

DE Students Attend Session In Columbus

By BOB RITCHARD and MR. BARRETT

Nineteen members of the Circleville DECA Club along with Mr. Barrett, club adviser, attended the Ohio Association of DECA, Southeastern Regional Conference at OSU Wednesday, Nov. 4.

The conference's general session was held in the auditorium of the Ohio Museum. Dr. William B. Logan, professor of Distributive Education, in his welcome encouraged all students to further their education. Opening remarks were also made by Bernard C. Nye, state supervisor of Distributive Education, himself a former DE student.

Speaker for the morning session was Mrs. Shelia Morrison Goff, assistant professor of speech at OSU. She spoke on the importance of correct speech in selling and the impressions others gain about you through your voice.

Candidates for regional office were then given an opportunity to campaign. Upon completion of the balloting the students moved to the west ballroom of the Ohio Union for the banquet.

Entertainment was furnished by the "Brown Singers", a family group of five including a DE student from East High School in Columbus.

Mr. George Frack, assistant state supervisor of DE, spoke to the more than 500 present on creative thinking.

To conclude the program the new officers were installed. The new officers are as follows: president, Mary Hughes, Whitehall-Yeilding; vice president, Robert Comerford; Mifflin; secretary, Claudia Cartnal - Newark; treasurer, Teresa Rugh Grove City.

DECA serves to supplement instruction which high school DE students receive in the classroom and on the job. Through its many activities and contests, DECA helps to develop various capabilities among its members which attribute to the acquisition of desirable knowledge, and attitudes required of those engaged in the occupational fields of marketing and distribution. Over 2000 students comprise the membership of Ohio DECA. One hundred four high schools in the state have DE programs.

Statistics Of SCOL Play

By DAVE AMEY

I received a little goody this week that lists all the statistics of 1964 South Central Ohio League play, from Joe Keefer, Bureau chief of SCOL Service Bureau.

The official statistics show Circleville as an "also ran" for the most part, although they can't take away our second place finish.

Mike Ramey and Howard Dade would have to be listed as the outstanding players from Circleville after viewing the sheet.

Everything was very official on such immovable items as games won and points scored on which the Tigers live up to their second place finish. The Tigers scored 95 points while holding the opposition to 56, setting them very snugly in the second slot.

But peek at total offense, total defense and individual rushing and you'll find Circleville a lackadaisical fourth in team offense and third in team defense.

Besides this, CHS did not rank a single runner, in the first five rushing slots. As a backhand comment, I'll ascertain that this can only be due to the fine and honest statistics kept by Steve Jones of the Circleville Herald.

Farewell Given Senior Bandsmen

By NANCY PICKEL

Last Friday night the band honored its seniors in the traditional hour glass formation. There were tears from the 24 senior members of the band as well as some of the parents in the crowd. The bandsmen had worked so hard for five years, four years and some even less.

In the years past they always had the next August to look forward to, but no more!

Grid Fans Avert Riot

By DAVE AMEY

Thanks are in order for the football fans who helped stave off a potential riot at the Franklin Heights football game last Friday.

The fans who have the "cool heads" were undoubtedly a determining factor in averting serious trouble. The game was definitely a high-strung affair. And, as in reading a good book, one even remotely interested in the game could feel the rising increase in tension.

Synonymous with rising action is the climax. And there was a climax! It occurred as an ironic note, with a clash of personalities.

Through the quick action on the part of Superintendent Fritz Jacobs, Principal Richard Snouffer, Athletic Director Paul Sarchet, six policemen, Head Coach Paul Starr, substitutes on the bench and the majority of the fans, a riot was avoided.

If everyone had hurdled the fences from the parking lot and grandstand to protect the "well-padded players," the oddsmakers have it that Circleville would have been in jeopardy athletic-wise.

Thank you, you "cool" fans!

Teacher of the Week

By BOB PRITCHARD

This week the C.H.S. Journalism class is honored to have Mr. Wallace Wayne Higgins as its Teacher of the Week. Mr. Higgins is the junior class adviser and also the adviser of the TAD Club.

He was graduated from Shawnee High School and Ohio University with BS and MA degrees in education. His hobbies include painting, Heraldry and writing. Mr. Higgins was employed by the Chillicothe Junior High System before coming to CHS.

Mr. Higgins is an active member of the Presbyterian Church where he is a member of the Church Deaconate and Building Committee.

He is one of the most popular teachers at CHS. All of the students who have had him for World History deeply respect him and his judgement in all matters. Mr. Higgins has his own style of teaching, one which makes all his students want to learn. He manages to keep their attention from the time class starts until the time the dismissal bell rings.

WALLACE HIGGINS

CHS football banquet will be held Nov. 18th. Gene Slaughter is to be the guest speaker.

Basketball season will be starting soon at CHS. The first game of the season is to be with Chillicothe Friday, Nov. 27 and a contest with Lancaster will follow on Saturday.

Go Seniors! Only 195 days til graduation!

Each senior who attended the tour of the General Electric plant Monday received a "foot candle," compliments of G. E.

Mr. Fritz Jacobs attended "Back to School Night" as both parent and administrator.

Wrestling season will begin Friday, Dec. 4, in a match with Pleasantview at home.

November 22, the SCOL coaches will make their selection of all-league members.

The costume committee of the all-school musical is progressing but as always, more progress is needed in the form of clothing loans and donations. Call Caryll McCoskey, GR 4-7224 or Eleanor Rush, GR 4-7414.

How does the "young and gay" director of the upcoming musical keep his composure through trials and tribulations?

All-day practice will be observed Saturday as the Junior Class play enters its final stages of hectic preparation. A complete run through of the play will be held at 3 p. m.

CHS MENU

Monday: Hot Bologna Sandwich Green Beans, Apple Crisp, Milk.
Tuesday: Spaghetti - Beef Cole Slaw, Applesauce, Bread, Butter, Milk.
Wednesday: Beef Stew, Lime-Pear Jello, Rolls-Butter, Milk.
Thursday: Chili Con Carne, Celery and Carrots, Pineapple, French Bread, Butter, Milk.
Friday: Fish Sandwich, Tartar Sauce, Peas, Cookie, Milk.

CHS's stage looks like a used furniture shop during preparation of props. Are we going to a musical or an auction?

Musical Goes Into Final Preparations

By NANCY PICKEL

As the nights of performance edge nearer, (Nov. 21 and 22) all cast members and committee workers make final preparations in an all out effort to make "Our Hearts Were Young And Gay" one of the finest productions staged at CHS.

This past Thursday a complete run-through was held and the results were pleasing. Overall characterization is good, mood is catching, and enthusiasm is at its highest. We feel that Phil Niswender and Dwight Wilson, who portray an acting coach and a dancing instructor, will be a highlight in the play with their song, "We'll Marry An American". Ray Ferguson is doing a fine character job as Mr. Otis Skinner.

Mrs. Viola Benzenberg has begun an active schedule of rehearsals with the dancers involved. Mr. Clifford Kerns is working daily with the small orchestra in order that their best will be put forth.

Ticket sales are going very well and a full house is anticipated both nights. You can still reserve seats tomorrow (Saturday) morning in the main hall at the high school.

Mr. Ransom made a successful trip to Columbus Monday night to get costumes for the Junior Class Play. He's learning what it's like to outfit teenagers, 80, to be exact.

Key Club dinner meeting was held Tuesday, May 10. An officer of the Ohio Highway Patrol spoke on gun safety for the hunting season.

Hi-Y Club Names Contest Winners

By BOB ANDERSON

The Hi-Y club has named the five winners of the Citizens of the Month contest for October. They are Frankie Carter, Connie Bowers, Susie Bennett, Glenn Plum and John Maxwell.

The winners of the contest are chosen by teachers in the high school. Each teacher nominates three students whom they think fulfill all the qualifications. The qualifications are respect, industry, punctuality, courtesy, responsibility and sportsmanship.

Frankie Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam W. Haynes, 1075 Georgia Road, is 13 and in the eighth grade. Frankie's activities consist mainly of football and basketball.

Connie Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bowers, 921 Circle Drive, is 14 and a freshman. Connie's activities include president of freshman SOS, Volunteers, 4-H Band, MYF and the all-school musical.

Susie Bennett, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Tom Bennett of Knollwood Village. Susie, who is 15 years old, takes part in many activities which include sophomore SOS, Drama Club, treasurer of MYF, Junior Leadership, EMS, choir, triple trio, Volunteers, and the all-school musical.

The junior class winner is Glenn Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Plum of 610 Ridgewood Drive, who is 16 years of age. Glenn is also a very active student in many organizations which include Drama Club, vice president of MYF secretary of Hi-Y, band, and has a great part in the all-school musical.

John Maxwell, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Maxwell, 501 E. Ohio St., is a 17-year-old senior. John's main activity, and one on which he spends much time, is basketball.

The Journalism Class as well as the whole school, would like to congratulate the winners. They have shown the many characteristics that go into making a good citizen and we hope that they keep it up.

Big Crowd Attends Post Game Dance

By CHERYL BRAY

CHS Annual Staff gathered a large crowd within the walls of the social rooms last Friday night after the Franklin Heights game.

The occasion was an evening of dancing, contests and laughs as the fabulous Rondels, struck the musical note for the evening. Band members were bedecked in their usual fine array and one wore a World War I helmet, a sporting raccoon tail.

Admittance was free to those who showed annual receipts and many a poor soul was in a state of exhaustion accompanied by a pair of sore feet. Carolyn Dade and D. J. Henry won the dance contest.

THE SAVINGS BANK & AUTO BANK CIRCLEVILLE

By DAVE AMEY
Gosh, for the first time in six weeks I hit 100 percent of my predictions — of course, picked them wrong, all wrong, but at least I had a perfect night. Wasn't this a crazy week! Not one of the SCOL teams won a game seen in Circleville all last home tilts.

Franklin Heights topped Circleville 14-7 in about the best game seen in Circleville all year.

Tonight the Tigers travel to Portsmouth to play a West team that is reported to be at the end of a losing season. It looks like Circleville will close out the season on a happy note.

Wilmington was really racked last week 22-5 by a Wilmington team that won its 37th straight game.

The Hurricane will be ready for Anteville tonight.

Miamisburg outscored Hillsboro 42-32 last week. Hillsboro plays Logan tonight, and I'll pick Logan to win.

Greenfield was blanked 20-0 by Hamilton Twp. They play Portsmouth tonight — a team coached by former Circleville Mentor Carl Benhase. Mr. Benhase doesn't like to lose to SCOL teams, so Portsmouth is a logical choice.

Miami Trace closes out the league activities when they play host to Franklin Heights. Columbus Bishop Ready edged the Panthers 14-12 last week. I'll pick FH to win.

Key Club Posters Explain Theme

By DICK CRABLE

Attention all students: You have probably seen the posters in various parts of CHS bearing the words "Inspire, Individual, Initiative", which is the 1964-65 Key Club International Theme.

In an age when conformity is considered desirable by so many, we must realize that the future depends upon the progress, we as Americans, make. In turn the progress we make is in direct ratio to the creativity, and individuality of the American citizen who has high standards of what is worthwhile having, doing and being.

Believing this, the CHS Key Club urges all students to work with them and every other American toward the common goal of progress by "inspiring individual initiative."

N.H.S. officers were elected Monday, November 9. They include: Steve Weiler, president; Susan Reichelderfer, vice president; Judy Fausnaugh, secretary; and Patricia Young, treasurer.

Two Key Club members, Dennis Schlichter and George Sadler, attended the Kiwanis dinner meeting Monday at the Mecca. Paul Hammond, who was a military guard for President Roosevelt provided interesting entertainment as guest speaker.

BG's Junebug Wrecking Grid

Soph Fullback Is Mid-Am Terror

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —A fullback who wears the unlikely moniker of Junebug is tearing mid- American Conference lines to shreds with his bull-like rushes.

He's Bowling Green's Steward (Stew) Williams, a 6-foot-1, 230-pound sophomore phenom who has become the unbeaten Falcons No. 1 offensive weapon.

Williams was dubbed Junebug after the pesky insect that is so prominent around his hometown of Sandusky.

But opposing linemen are convinced he resembles a bulldozer more than any frail, little Junebug.

A power runner with good and elusive moves, Williams won all-state honors while at Sandusky High School where in three seasons he piled up an impressive 3,059 yards in 421 carries. He also scored 260 points.

But the much sought gridders checked into Bowling Green's fall football camp with a couple of problems. For one thing, he was 25 pounds overweight. And he was bothered by a knee operation last spring for calcium deposits.

For these reasons, veteran coach Doyt Perry has brought his prize fullback along slowly. But in the last four games, Williams has come with a rush.

Although he hasn't started a game all season, Williams leads Falcon runners with an even 500 yards in 48 attempts, a six-yard per crack average. He's also scored 30 points to rank second in this department.

Perry, who usually speaks conservatively in these matters, is very high on Williams. "He's one of the better fullbacks in the country," said the Falcon mentor.

Stew came into his own against Toledo when he rocketed for 113 yards and a touchdown. And his 98 yards in the Miami of Ohio clash was the big weapon against the Redskins.

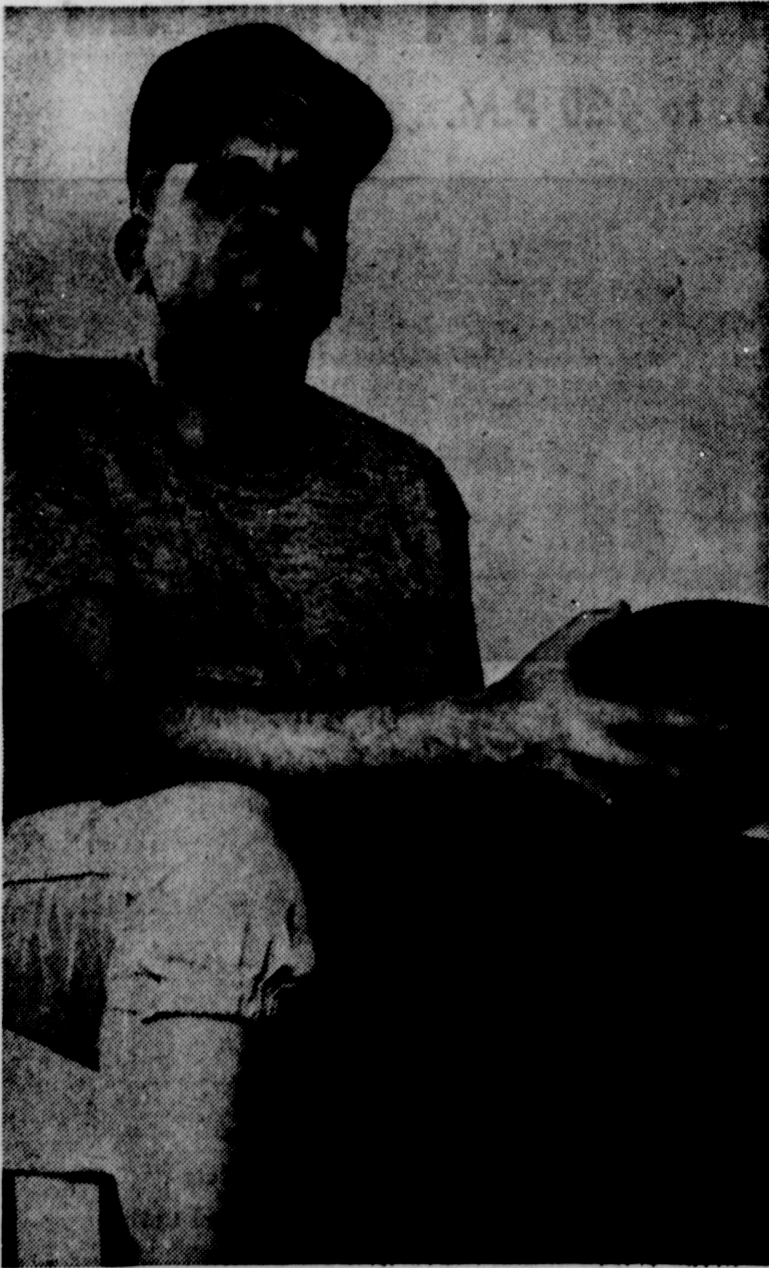

"We would have beaten them with Williams on the sidelines!" moaned Miami coach Bo Schembechler after the Falcons won 21-18.

Pickaway Jr. High Officials Named

A list of officials for Pickaway County junior high school basketball teams has been named by George McDowell, superintendent of schools.

Pettit Gunning For 20,000th

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Pettit is gunning for another record tonight in the National Basketball Association—and he's sure to make it.

The rangy captain of the St. Louis Hawks needs just seven points to become the first player in NBA history to score 20,000 points, a feat somewhat akin to Babe Ruth hitting 714 home runs.

Pettit will be the first man in the "20,000 club."

The Hawks tangle with the Cincinnati Royals today, a game that Royals coach Jack McMahon is looking forward to. His star player, Oscar Robertson, is expected to be in action for the first time since he suffered an eye injury Nov. 1.

Darrell Royal's eight-year tenure as Texas head coach is exceeded only by D. X. Bible's ten seasons among Southwest Conference coaches.

Browns Picked To End Long Detroit Jinx

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
 Baltimore should get even with the Minnesota Vikings Sunday for the Colts' only defeat of the season and the unbeaten Buffalo Bills should run their winning streak to 10 games at the expense of the Boston Patriots.

A lucky 10-1 record last week boosted the season batting average to 64-29-5 (39-21-3 in the National Football League and 25-8-2 in the American Football League). Let's take another dip: (all games Sunday afternoon)

NFL

Baltimore 31, Minnesota 21—Ever since the Vikings rolled for 488 yards in the season opener and a 34-24 victory, the Colts have been waiting for another crack at Dutch Van Brocklin's gang. Probable loss of Raymond Berry will hurt Johnny Unitas' passing but Colts' defense has firmed since early season.

Cleveland 24, Detroit 17 — Lions always jinx team for Browns but loss of Joe Schmidt is a severe handicap to Detroit with Jim Brown crashing up the middle.

The Browns have not beaten the Lions in five regular season games and Detroit holds a 22-8 edge—with one tie—in all clubs, including regular season, exhibition games.

Green Bay 31, San Francisco 14—Vince Lombardi has Packers on move and the 49ers aren't going to stop them even at home. Packers won first meeting 24-14 and should roll big on the ground with Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung.

St. Louis 21, New York 17—Despite Giants' 34-17 decision two weeks ago, Cards must win to stay in Eastern race. Pass clicking for Charley Johnson should stand up better than it did in New York with John Lovetere out of Giant rush line for season.

Dallas 17, Philadelphia 10 —Cowboys on upgrade with three straight over Cards, Bears and Giants. Eagles have lost last two to Redskins and Rams.

Los Angeles 28, Chicago 21—Rams have running power to take advantage of absence of Bill George in Bears' linebacking department and pass defense to hold Bill Wade's short game within bounds. A word of caution! In their first meeting Bears won 38-17.

Washington 24, Pittsburgh 21 —Redskins moving up with two wins in last three starts and 24 points in losing effort against Cleveland. Steelers have dropped four in a row since upsetting Browns.

AFL

Buffalo 27, Boston 24—Bills have been just squeaking though in last three games but this is the big one. Pats thumped Bills in the playoff game last December and they haven't forgotten.

New York 30, Denver 14—Jets should win but not if they expect a pushover. The Broncos were rough on San Diego last week with the Chargers pulling it out late.

Kansas City 24, San Diego 21 —Despite long-time hex the Chargers have over the Chiefs, Kansas City showed good punch last week against Oakland while San Diego was so-so.

Houston 28, Oakland 21—Oilers won earlier 42-28 and Raiders looked disorganized last week against Kansas City.

OSU Halfback Wins Blaik Fellowship

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Chonko, Ohio State defensive halfback, is one of eight college football players named winners of the $500 fellowships provided annually by Col. Earl H. Blaik, former Army coach.

Chonko plans to go on to medical school and he will also share in the $2,500 Medical Awards Foundation's Award, given for the first time last year.

'Hutch' Always Was a Fighter, Always Battling against Odds

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
 Fred Hutchinson always said they would have to tear the uniform off him. That is what they did.

Hutch knew a long time ago his days were numbered but he made utmost use of every one of those days doing what he knew and liked best.

The man was a fighter. He always had to battle against odds. As a big league pitcher, Hutchinson lacked the primary requisite of a sizzling fast ball. But he compensated for it by the fierce way he made use of the skills he had to become an 18-game winner.

Defeat was so alien to his nature that he used to wreck clubhouses in displeasure.

He was the same as a manger. No ball club of his ever dared get complacent. He won a pennant with a Cincinnati team in 1961 that experts said had no right to win but it was his own determination, unshakable confidence in his players and grim resolve that made it possible.

"Give all the credit to Hutch," said Danny Murtaugh, a rival pilot, with Pittsburgh. "The pennant was his baby."

Hutch spoke in a soft, gruff voice but he spoke frankly and directly. Doubletalk was foreign to him. He was called "The Big Bear" because of his powerful physique. And "Old Stoneface" because some of baseball's best quips bounced off his stony exterior but he never could find it in himself to laugh when he didn't feel the joke.

He always felt uncomfortable saying "yes" if what he really thought was "no."

A classic example took place some years ago when Hutch was managing the St. Louis Cardinals. There was a high level conference of the Redbird brass and Hutch was urged by Gussie Busch, then a comparatively new owner of the Cards, to put the untalented Tom Alston, a $100,000 purchase, on first base instead of Joe Cunningham.

Hutchinson looked his boss straight in the eye and settled the issue with one scathing sentence.

"If you want a clown to play first base, why don't you hire Emmett Kelly?"

Alston did not play first base.

It was typical of Hutch that when he learned he was stricken with cancer, he made no attempt to hide it. He made the announcement himself and he made it in blunt, straight forward fashion.

Hutchinson has been pictured as a cold, unemotional, gruff and distant man. Nothing could be farther from the truth. He was no charm boy and he wasn't easy to know but those who were fortunate to be called his friends knew him as a kindly and warm individual with a sense of humor.

Admiration grew into genuine fondness for this hulking man, who, off the field, was a gentle, fun-loving man who liked to dance and sing.

During an intimate party, it was not an uncommon sight to see Hutch hold the center of the stage, entertaining his friends with his high, baritone singing. Joe Garagiola, former Cardinal catcher, now a broadcaster, said it perfectly one day when he explained: "Hutch is really a happy guy inside only his face doesn't show it."

Hutchinson had a reputation as a terrible — tempered man who, in fits of rages after losing a close ball game, would break chairs, smash windows and kick through clubhouse doors. But his rages were never directed at an individual player. Knowing his own temper, he made it a pri-

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
I loving memory of our beloved husband and father, Oscar P. Franzer who passed away two years ago
Nov. 13, 1962. This day brings back sad memories of our love one gone to rest. And day by day we miss him more, as we walk through life alone. No one knows the silent heart-aches, only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief we bear in silence for the one we loved so well.
Friends may think we have forgotten. When they see us smile. But little do they know the sorrow, that is behind the smile. Now we know his work is finished here on earth where mortals dwell. He is missed by all who knew him, yet with Jesus all is well. Labor here for him is ended, earthly trials and troubles too. God has pulled the final curtain leaving tears for me and you. He is gone to claim the honors of his masters there on High. And we know the Joy will thrill him of the place of no goodbye. Hello to all the loved ones, who assemble at the gate and he hears well done my brother from the Master of all fate. This we're sure, if he could be on the ones he left so dear. He would want each one to follow his so wonderful up-here.
Sadly missed by his wife, Minnie Franzer and children, Emmett, Robert and Mary.

Ag Census Enumerators Are Named

Enumerators for the 1964 census of agriculture in Pickaway County have been named by Mrs. Hewitt Cromley, county crew leader. They are:

Mrs. Elizabeth Bower in Pickaway and Salt Creek Twp.; Mrs. Leota Heffner, Walnut Twp.; Mrs. Helen Kuhlwein, Madison and Harrison Twp.; Mrs. Carolyn McCoy, Circleville and Washington Twp.; Mrs. Dorothy Michel, Darby and Monroe Twp.; Mrs. Ellis List, Jackson and Wayne Twp.; Paul Peck, Deer Creek and Perry Twp.; Mrs. Margaret Finch, Scioto and Muhlenberg Twp.

The eight enumerators in Pickaway County belong to a force of 23,000 throughout the nation employed temporarily by the U. S. Bureau of the Census for this year's rundown agriculture.

Enumerators are key workers in an agricultural census. It is the enumerator's responsibility to locate every farm within an enumeration district assigned to him (or her), determine if the operator of the farm has answered all questions on a questionnaire that will be mailed to the farmer by the Census Bureau, help the farmer complete any unanswered questions on the form, check answers for accuracy, and deliver the form to the Census Bureau.

A CENSUS of Agriculture is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather needed, up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. Economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock inventory, information on farm equipment and improvements, farm products sold, and on some production expenditures. Information also will be collected on use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

The enumerators will be trained in a special 4-day home study course designed to prepare them for the farm census, their crew leader said.

The manufacturing team is headed by Don B. Schiewetz, area supervisor. Other members are William A. Sibbick, assistant area supervisor; Thomas A. Cavanaugh, Charles R. Emhardt, Frank J. Nagy and Russell A. Smith, supervisors; Gerald S. Helsel, C. Gordon Painter, John T. Simison and George E. Sparks, foremen.

Construction of the pilot line at the Circleville location was initiated about two years ago. Preparations for startup of the new facilities have been under way since mid-summer. Operations are expected to begin early next spring.

"In 1963, there was no sharp increase in fires when the hunters were in the field," Morr said. He added that records show hunters detected fires and helped suppress fires throughout the state.

He declared that all department, district and base radio stations have been placed on a 24-hour standby alert.

Many Pennsylvania farmers are trucking water for livestock and for winter wheat. Twenty-seven communities are using emergency water supplies. Officials said the forest fire situation is getting worse.

Forty-eight forest fires broke out in Pennsylvania Wednesday, destroying 575 acres. Fires have been averaging 25 a day since the first of the month.

Farmers in the Midwest, who stand to lose about $100 million from expected income, gazed on bone dry fields.

More than 4,500 acres of brush and timber have been scorched in the past two days in Indiana, where the last rain was Oct. 18. The state is 4.46 inches below last year's rainfall.

Illinois struggled through one of its most disastrous autumns in history. Wheat was stunted, and the southern half of the state fought hundreds of brush and forest fires. Southern Illinois has gone 45 consecutive days without rain, a record.

Heavy rains struck virtually all of Wisconsin Thursday accompanied by wind gusts up to 58 m.p.h.

Oregon was soaked by torrential rainstorms and mountain areas were coated with snow. In Colorado, ski operators were elated by a two-day snowstorm that measured up to a foot.

A solid three days of rain and snow ended the long dry spell in California. Heavy snows in the mountains sent ski areas into high gear.

The area supervisor joined Du Pont in 1954 as a research engineer at the Yerkes Research Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y. He later was promoted to technical supervisor and transferred to Wilmington, Del., in 1959. In 1962 he was assigned to act as liaison with DuPont's Engineering Department in the design and construction of the new pilot line. Dr. Schiewetz was transferred to the Circleville plant last year. He and his wife, Patricia, have one son, Mark, 6. They reside at 675 Ridgewood Drive.

SIBBICK was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and served as a bomber pilot in the U. S. Army Air Corps during World War II. Ashville Grain Co. Acquires Operation of Scioto Grain

The Ashville Grain Co. today acquired operations of the Scioto Grain Co.

The announcement was made by Rexford Hall and J. Arthur Sark, presidents of the respective Ashville firms.

The agreement affects the acquisition of the fixed assets of Scioto Grain Co. by Grain Co. in exchange for stock and other remunerations furnished by Ashville Grain. Under the agreement the stockholders of both parent companies will continue to own shares in The Ashville Grain Co.

The contract was consummated after careful study by the board of directors of both firms in order to provide for a unified, stronger and more efficient Farm Supply and Grain Merchandising Organization in the Ashville community.

PRESIDENTS Sark and Hall stated that as a result of the consolidation, the new organization can better serve their customers by offering faster, more complete service in feed, seed, fertilizers and farm chemicals. Grain can also be received at a much faster rate to keep pace with today's harvesting methods, they said.

The combined facilities will have 500,000 bushels of grain storage.

The presidents stated that there will be no significant changes in operating policies in the near future.
